FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DSG TO EXHIBIT LATEST IN ELECTRONIC DATA CAPTURE AT 18th ANNUAL PARTNERSHIPS WITH CROs CONFERENCE

—CROs to learn how they can reduce costs and increase clinical trial success—

MALVERN, Pa., April 20, 2009 — DSG Inc., an industry leader in clinical trial data collection and management, will be exhibiting at the 18th Annual Partnerships with CROs Conference at the Orlando Rosen Shingle Creek Hotel and Conference Center, April 28-30, 2009. DSG will be demonstrating the latest in electronic data capture technology and its complete line of integrated solutions designed to reduce costs and increase clinical trial success rates for critical Contract Research Organizations (CROs) and their Sponsors.

CROs and their Sponsor partners continue looking for ways to increase productivity while reducing time-to-market through the complex clinical trial process. EDC software and services are a key element to organizations meeting these goals. DSG will be exhibiting at Booth 414 and will have senior management on hand to demonstrate the value of its industry-leading offerings.

“CROs continue to play an invaluable role in ensuring clinical trial success,” said Tony Varano, President and CEO, DSG, Inc. “We have built lasting relationships with this ecosystem of partners and this conference is an excellent opportunity for DSG’s continued engagement of the CRO community.”
